Scenario Mode – iOS Device Settings

If the display turns off while you are recording then that will cause problems.

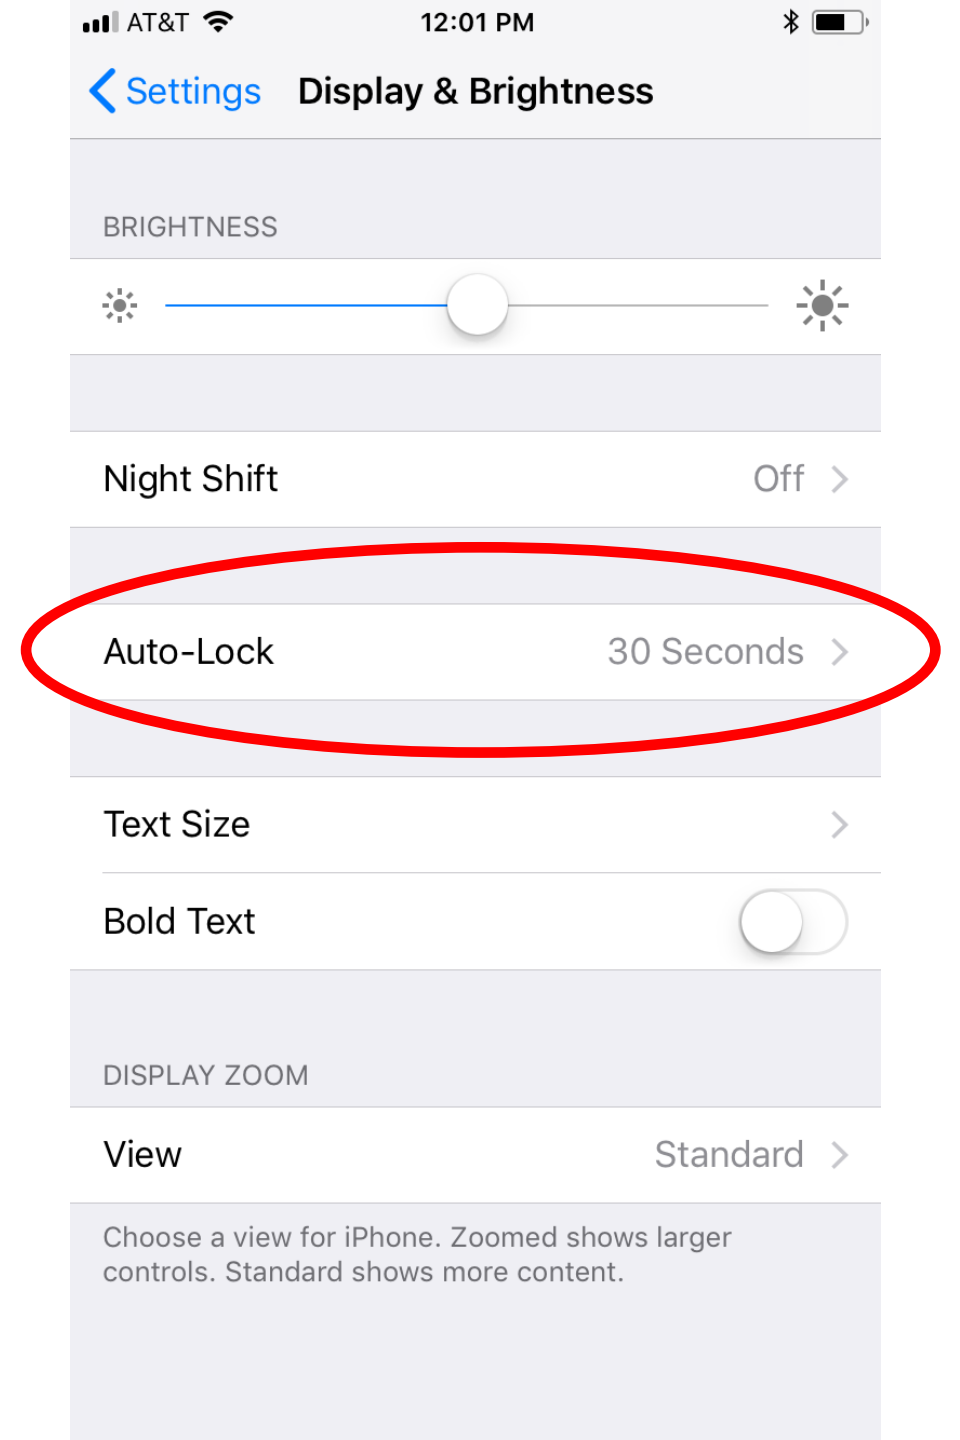

The following instructions offer suggestions on how to avoid this.

If you are recording audio or video and the screen turns off automatically because of your settings then the recording will end. That is behavior caused by iOS and the app cannot change that.

If you do not want the app to stop recording because the display turns off, then we suggest you change the auto-lock time in Settings --> Display & Brightness.

Change this setting to a larger value.

We recommend 5 minutes for short recordings and Never for long recordings.

Remember that if you set the Auto-Lock time to Never, then the display will be accessible by anyone if you leave the phone unattended.

We recommend that after recording you change the Auto-Lock time to a shorter value.
